PALAIS BÉNÉDICTINE

YOUR EVENT IN A UNIQUE AND EXCEPTIONAL VENUE

An architectural masterpiece, the Palais Bénédictine was built at the end of the 19th century by Alexander the Great, in honor of the Benedictine liqueur. Discover the history of the world's first spiritourism site.

It all began in 1510, when the Benedictine monk Dom Bernardo Vincelli created a secret elixir at Fécamp Abbey. The recipe for this panacea was lost during the troubled times of the French Revolution.

One day in 1863, Alexandre Le Grand, a Fécamp wine merchant, discovered the grimoire containing the composition of this liqueur in his grandfather's library. Intrigued, he decided to decipher it, and succeeded in reconstructing it after a year's effort.

The elixir became a liqueur he named Benedictine, in honor of the Benedictine monk Dom Bernardo Vincelli. He had the sumptuous Palais Bénédictine built to provide a prestigious setting for the liqueur's distillery (still in operation today) and its collection of works of art.

It's in the heart of the Palais that we can organize your event for 5 to 300 people. You'll find a prestigious and atypical Salle des Abbés, private lounges, an outdoor garden and a modern cocktail bar.

While the Palais Bénédictine is closed to the public, offer your guests exclusive moments in a princely setting.

Bureau 1970

A true leap into the past, the CEO's office takes us back to the 1970s, when it was first fitted out. On a day in 1988, the last descendant of the Grand left his office, leaving behind his supplies and high-flying furniture. Since then, the room has been preserved in its original state. Closed to the public, this 1970 office and its sub-committee space are perfectly suited to CoDir meetings.
